ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

We are authorized to announce GEORGE P. DYER, of Wolf county, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative from the 91st Legislative District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held July 1, 1911.

We are authorized to announce I. N. HORTON, of Wolf county, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative from the 91st Legislative District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held July 1, 1911.

We are authorized to announce A. HOWARD STAMER, of Wolf county, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative from the 91st Legislative district of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held July 1, 1911.

Wonder how many more gubernatorial candidates Mr. McCreary will have out of the running before?

Have you seen several individuals in the last few days but we haven't seen as many snakes as some of the Kentucky editors.

Won't some of those old sidewalks look horrible by gas light? Better get busy and repair them, especially those along the business streets.

The terrible fire in a shirt waist factory, Washington square, New York, Saturday, in which nearly 150 persons, ninety per cent of whom were women and girls, lost their lives, is another horrible example of the sacrifice of human life to Mammon.

Only a few months ago, in this same Hell-hole, those overworked and underpaid Shirt Waist Makers struck for higher wages and better conditions under which to labor. Both demands were refused by the vampires who owned the business and the poor girls were literally starved into submission and forced, by circumstances to return to the death-trap in which they lost their lives last Saturday.

There is something wrong with a social system that will permit such conditions to exist. The law provides that fire escapes and safety devices shall be installed in buildings of this kind and there are men whose duty it is to see that these regulations are complied with, but in order that the shirt waist manufacturers in this case might add a few more shackles to their hoard the officer's responsible for the enforcement of the law winked at the neglect of the manufacturers to properly safeguard the lives of their employees, and as a result more than one hundred helpless women and girls were either burned like rats or jumped to a horrible death on the pavement below.

The reformers who are agitating the abolition of capital punishment are on the wrong trail. Justice cannot be satisfied in any other way than with the lives of those blood-suckers who are responsible for this terrible catastrophe. But alas! will justice in this case ever be satisfied?

An apology or an explanation is due our patrons this week on account of the appearance of the paper. The print is not up to the standard and we regret it very much but sometimes the best regulated machinery gets out of order, and sometimes the best regulated men get wrong. We don't know which was the case in this instance. We tried our best to get a good impression but in spite of our efforts the dirt spots remained. Bear with us this time and we will do our utmost to prevent a recurrence.

We have heard the expression somewhere: "If Fraternal love held all men bound how beautiful this world would be." A beautiful sentiment and true; and to it may be added that if a mutual, universal recognition (not simply a casual acknowledgment) of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man held all men bound how much more beautiful this world would be.

If hypocrisy, envy and covetousness, the three big evils, could be eliminated from the world then, indeed, would the Milenium dawn and the reign of universal peace and prosperity begin.

If an Inspector should pay the Courier office a visit one of these days and ask a peep at our subscription book we would have some explaining to do, and we are afraid our explanations wouldn't be entirely satisfactory to that official. Our list of delinquent subscribers is growing longer instead of shorter and we are permitting this to occur at a serious risk of having the publication of the Courier suspended, and this we do not want to occur. The law does not allow us to carry non-paid up subscribers on our books beyond a certain fixed time and we write this hoping that any of our subscribers who are not paid up will be good enough to call and settle. We would dislike very much to drop a single patron from our list, but self preservation is the first law of nature.

Vote selling in Floyd county may have been a custom for fifty years but it is a vile slander on the good people of the county to say that "many of her best citizens are indicted for selling their votes." No man who sells his vote is a good citizen nor ought he to ever again be allowed the elective franchise. Disfranchisement which follows conviction for vote selling ought to be for life and the other trimmings prescribed by law ought to be added.

Does Morgan county need an investigation such as Commonwealth Atty May and Judge Garner have been conducting in Floyd? Yes, we say, equivocally. It might be humiliating to a great many people, but let it come—we need it. We believe we have the right kind of Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, and from the personnel of the last Jury Commission we are of the opinion that we will have the right kind of grand jurors to conduct such an investigation. "Let 'er come."

"Let There Be Light."

Natural Gas, the real kind that lights and heats, is now in West Liberty, and several families are using it for cooking, heating and lighting with perfect results and unbounded satisfaction. Those who are using it say they don't see how they did without it heretofore. So great is the demand for plumbing that the force of plumbers now at work is insufficient. Everybody is wanting gas at the same time.

We hope the authorities will not delay putting in the town lights. Our people have been looking forward to these for some time, and nothing will add more to the appearance of the town than well lighted streets.

The Courier moves that Dr. S. R. Collier, the originator of the idea of using natural gas in West Liberty and the prime factor in the organization of the Company, be given a public vote of thanks for his unceasing labor to secure for our town this modern convenience.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The Normal Department in the West Liberty School is having unprecedented success. Thorough reviews will be given in nearly all the common school branches preparatory to the examination. There's a few more teachers.

Bro. J. S. Carter of Hazel Green Academy visited our school on Monday morning. His talk at chapel exercises was interesting and encouraging to all.

"The Ranchman," a Wild West play, was rendered on last Saturday evening in the College Chapel, under the able management of Mrs. Archibald and Miss

James.

SCHOOL METHODS.

In this article for the "Courier" I shall try to give its readers a glance view of some very peculiar methods of teaching: first, teaching a child to read in China;

Teacher and pupils sit on floor. The teacher opens a book (classical literature) and begins to read. The pupils, with books in hands, repeat every word uttered by the teacher, pointing to the words with their fore-fingers; Only one line is read at a time, then repeated until the pupils can read the line without help. The pupils then close their books and repeat the line, then the teacher proceeds to the next line until the whole book is learned by heart. No attention is paid to the meaning of words, so that the pupil may read the whole book fluently without understanding its contents; This process is deadening to the child mind; Its effect is the China of to day.

Second, Teaching a Hindu to write. Teacher and pupils sit on sandy floor, sometimes in the open, sometime in a tent; The teacher and pupils are supplied with sticks. The teacher makes a letter or word in the sand with the stick, and pronounces the word as he writes it. The pupils then imitate the teacher, writing the letter or word in the sand, and repeating the word as they write. The pupils are taught to write from copies with a brush. Class distinctions permit only a few to enjoy the blessing of an education. The British government and the Missionaries are remedying these conditions; But teachers are needed to light the torch of civilization in Southern Asia. Girls are not permitted to attend the native school of China and India. A man's wife is his

The Commercial Bank of West Liberty was the first bank in Kentucky to sign a voluntary contract to be examined by a State Bank Examiner.

Examiner, P. C. Snyder, checked up the books of the Commercial Bank March 28th and according to a gratuitous statement from him he found the books, and in fact the entire management of the institution, in the best condition of any bank he had ever examined in the state. It took him only six hours to make the entire examination, the shortest time in which he had ever completed one of like kind.

This fact speaks well for the Cashier, and the entire management of the bank, and ought to commend it to the public as a safe institution with which to do business.

BASE BALL.

The H. G. A. and West Liberty ball teams crossed bats on the local field Monday and gave the lovers of the sport an opportunity to see some real ball playing. The game was one of the snappiest and best ever seen on the West Liberty diamond and the way the players acquitted themselves would cause an "Old Leaguer" to sit up and take notice.

The score stood 3-1 in favor of West Liberty. The local boys held the visitors well in hand at all times and only in the 6th inning were they able to put a runner across the plate. Pitcher Williams was opposing his old team-mates and seemed to know their weak points. The following is the line-up:

West Liberty—Carter, c; Williams, p; Gevedon, 1b; Caraway, 2b; Spencer, 3b; Potts, ss; Henry, rf; Phipps, lf; Goodwin, lf. Hazel Green—Fugate, c; Long, p; Lacy, 1b; Lykins, 2b; Ross, 3b; McGuire, ss; Brown, rf; Haney, cf; James, lf.

Score by innings:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9—T
H. G. A. 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1
W. Liberty, 0 1 0 0 0 1 1 x—3

Third, Teaching a child in Kentucky. Perhaps the following methods were never used in Morgan county but I have found them in Kentucky.

The Teacher stands before a class in arithmetic states the following problem: Reduce 2 bushels to quarts; pupil recites or writes on the black board; 4 times 2 bushels equals 8 (pecks) 8 times 8 pecks equals 64 (quarts.) Next:

About nine-tenths of all the spelling taught in the common school is oral; about nine-tenths of all the spelling in after life is written; one is a training for the mouth and ear, the other is the work of the eye and hand. Teachers of Kentucky, why so much oral and so little written spelling. Why not learn to play the piano by singing and listening?

What the difference? Teaching a child to read by the Chinese method. One pupil at a time stands besides the teacher; the teacher points to the picture of "a toothless harrow" and says A; the pupil timidly says A; probably the teacher, who is exceptionally gifted in the art, instilled of pointing next to the picture of "oxen yoke" B, points to the picture of the "fish hook" J and pronounces J; The pupil repeats the pronunciation. I was an exceptionally smart boy when I started to school, the pride of the family; yet it took several months for me to master the letters in English language. I was in school a long time before I could tell p from q.

I want you to notice these two points: after I learned the alphabet by heart, up and down, then I had to learn to read; and the very fact that I knew my letters hindered me from reading well. I looked on the printed page for letters instead of thoughts and words. I pronounced all the words with the same force and in the same tone. Habits once formed are hard to break and many a person can not read well today simply because they were started wrong.

China has her methods and China is a land of poverty and filth.

The Hindoos have their methods but they suffer from famine and plague.

Kentucky has—but there's a brighter day.

P. S. It is not a good policy to speak or write anything that will take from the glory of Old Kentucky; therefore the above blank.

FIRST AMONG THE NATIONS

Duty of Every Citizen to Main in and Increase America's Proud Position.

America is the throne of the world. On her east is the greatest ocean of the present; on her west is the greatest ocean of the future; on her south the greatest of gulfs; on her north the greatest of lakes. She can command the trade of the world in material things; she can lead the march of the nations in spiritual things, writes Senator Albert J. Beveridge, in Appleton's Magazine. Let us do both. With more schools where the learning of man is taught; more churches where the word of God is preached; more nerve and brain and pure resolve than all the world combined, let us keep the leadership that now is ours and captain mankind to the practical realization of humanity's highest hopes.

PRESIDENT JACKSON'S RETORT.

The Irish-American humorist did not appear in literature before the time of the civil war, though when the occasion called for a remark that would outlast more pompous expressions he generally said something that enriched the language. It was the son of an Irishman, President Andrew Jackson, who, when his secretary of state, Van Buren, proffered him unasked advice as to how the president should receive a visiting foreign nobleman, replied, paternally:

"Van, I once knew a man in Tennessee who made his everlasting fortune by minding his own business."

The humor here is not very subtle, but the speech was intended rather to be effective than amusing.—The Sunday Magazine.

NO PLACE FOR PICTURES.

An incident in which humor and pathos were combined occurred in the Italian settlement of Philadelphia the other day after a mission worker had handed a little Italian child a picture card.

"Here, little girl," said the woman, "you can take this home and hang it on the wall of your home."

"We hys no walls in our room," said the child.

"No walls," said the worker, looking amazed.

"That's right. There are no walls in each corner, and we live in the middle of the room, so you see we ain't got no walls to hang anything on."—Philadelphia Press.

QUITE PROBABLE.

It is evident that the young man who writes the news items in the Willowby Times wishes always to be on the safe side and exercise due caution in his statements.

"When Mr. Lemuel Hawkins entered the bedroom on the ground floor of his farmhouse one day last week," wrote the careful news-gatherer, "he found that a cow, probably astray, had made her way there from the open door."—Youth's Companion.

THE EDITOR'S BALLY.

City Editor—What do you mean by saying in this robbery story that "Brown was backed down and relieved of a hundred dollars?" Were you yourself?

A local news item came to the front with a story of documentary evidence to prove that Robin Hood was a real person. Thank goodness! The item said he wiped out everybody else. He leaves us two—the Outlaw of Sherwood Forest and Annulus.—New York Herald.

The Beauty of the Tree.

Whether in summer, autumn, spring or winter the tree always has a distinctive and majestic beauty that serves to endear it to all that come under its influence.—From "Our Trees and How to Know Them," by Clarence M. Weed.

Avoiding Embarrassment.

"Dickey," said his mother, "when you divided those five caramels with your sister did you give her three?" "No, ma. I thought they wouldn't come out even, so I ate one 'fore I began to divide."—United Presbyterian.

FRENCH HOME LIFE SIMPLE

Extra Work Caused by Visitors, Common in England and America, Is Unknown There.

In England the proportion of men to women indoor servants is as one to three or four; in France the reverse is the case, parlor maids being unknown, the one femme de chambre being lady's maid as well as housemaid. The housework—sweeping, dusting, etc.—mainly falls upon the men servants.

One element entailing much extra work for servants in England is absent in a French house. This is the staying guest, the succession of visitors. Outside private hotels and in the handsome flats of fashionable quarters there is, indeed, no room in Parisian households for friends. The words "dine and sleep" or "week-end" visits have not found their way into French dictionaries, nor have dine and sleep week-end guests yet become French institutions.

It is easy thus to understand why three or four servants suffice in France while in England a dozen would be needed for people of similar means and position, and where three or four maids are kept in England only a general servant is kept in France.—Home Life in France.

PROPHECIES OF BIG BEN.

Big Ben has been stopped three times by snow freezing on the hands and jamming them. A curious episode in its history took place in December, 1861, just before the prince consort died, when, owing to the failure of an experimental piece of apparatus, the clock struck a hundred or more strokes without stopping. People who were unaware of the cause saw in the occurrence an omen of the great loss which shortly afterward befell the nation. Another sensational prank was played by the clock on April 9, 1886, when it stopped while Mr. Gladstone was making his famous speech in favor of home rule for Ireland. This was taken by some as an augury that the bill would not pass, and as regards the event the prophecies were justified.—From the Captain.

BOB EVANS' BENEDICTION.

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans has been writing to his California friends many telling them how he recovered in health and expressing his thanks for the kindness he received while there. In a letter to James Horsburgh, Jr., general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, the admiral expressed the felicitous wish:

"May you live with the rich here and the poor hereafter."

Horsburgh says that this proves that the admiral knows his Bible.

Boy (first turning to the left and then straight on—pleasantly)—Going for it?

A SERIOUS MATTER.

"I've got to speak to the girl's father to-night on a serious subject."

"Aw, don't be afraid. Fathers in real life seldom object to giving up their girls."

"But I've got to see if he'll stand for a few months' free board."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE PRESCRIPTION.

"What ought a man to do for a bad cold?" asked the doctor, in sequence, stopping him in the street.

"He should never," said the physician, hastily, "stand on the cold street consulting a doctor, but call during his office hours."

"You go first, Frau Meier, I can wait."

"Thanks. I'm in no more hurry for my money than you."

Glory.

There are men who think being appointed doorkeeper by a legislature is the highest glory.

Personal Power.

A wound inflicted by a woman may be cured, but never a wound inflicted by the tongue.

to water but you can't make him drink.

You can't make him eat either. You can stuff food into a thin man's stomach but that doesn't make him use it.

Scott's Emulsion can make him use it. How? By making him hungry, of course.

Scott's Emulsion makes a thin body hungry all over. Thought a thin body was naturally hungry didn't you? Well it isn't.

A thin body is asleep—not working on a strike. It's too tired to use its food.

Emulsion wakes it up and makes it work again. It builds up the flesh. That's the fat.

Facts for Weak Women

Nine-tenths of all the sickness of women is due to some derangement or disease of the organs distinctly feminine. Such sickness can be cured—is cured every day by

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

It Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well.

It acts directly on the organs affected and is at the same time a general restorative tonic for the whole system. It cures female complaint right in the privacy of home. It makes unnecessary the disagreeable questioning, examinations and local treatment so universally insisted upon by doctors, and so abhorrent to every modest woman.

We shall not particularize here as to the symptoms of those peculiar affections incident to women, but those wanting full information as to their symptoms and means of positive cure are referred to the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser—1008 pages, newly revised and up-to-date Edition, sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, or, in cloth binding for 31 stamps.

LOMBARD PIANOS

Praised by Press and Pulpit

No Piano has ever been more enthusiastically endorsed. The Artistic Case, the Easy, Responsive Action, and above all the deep, sweet, rich Tone, captivate performer and listener. The united verdict is that

LOMBARD PIANOS ARE THE BEST IN THE WORLD !!

Mrs. Helen M. Slaker, 244 Grand Ave., Aurora, Ill., says: "I cannot find words in the English language to express my appreciation to you for having sold me such a beautiful instrument. I really think it is the most beautiful case I ever saw, and the tone is simply grand. I shall be glad to give you my testimonial, as I think the Lombard should take the lead."

Rev. Geo. Donahay, Pres. Corpus Christi College, Galveston, Ill., says: "We are using the Lombard in our College work at Corpus Christi, and it is a pleasure to recommend it. It is a beautiful instrument with a deep, sweet, rich tone."

J. W. Purviance, Editor McNairy County Independent, Selmer, Tenn., says: "The instrument (Lombard Piano) fills our most sanguine expectations. It is not only a rare beauty in its outward finish, but the tone is most full, rich and sweet. Your firm has proven to be prompt and reliable in its dealings with me."

J. Ernest Paxson, Editor Press, Parkersburg, Pa., says: "I must say that the Lombard sent me is a beautiful instrument, and a credit to a standard firm. We are more than satisfied."

R. S. Knapp, President Federal Charter Co., Washington, D. C., says: "We now realize after a careful and comprehensive trial of the Lombard, by many musical artists of Washington, that it stands second to none, regardless of price or make. Every one who has tried this instrument is enthusiastic in its praise."

These are samples of hundreds of enthusiastic letters received in every mail.
